

Dromedaries That Smoke.
Dromedaries are said to be particularly fond of tobacco smoke, and are made to do almost anything under its influence. Travelers in Egypt, it is asserted, rely more on tobacco smoke for their control over these huge beasts than anything else. When traveling on long journeys the dromedaries are in many cases required to travel night and day without rest, and the beasts are kept up to their tasks by smoking cigars. The driver carries a triangular piece of wood, which is pierced at one point like a cigar holder. This is inserted in the mouth of the beast, the cigar being lit and pressed into the hole in the same fashion followed by man. The dromedary immediately closes its eyes and puffs away through its nostrils until the cigar is burned away. The indulgence appears to refresh it, and the keeper has no difficulty in persuading the animal to plod on without further rest.—Philadelphia Press.

Plugged with Autographs and Cents.
When the pedestal of the statue of Blair, which Missouri has presented to Statuary hall, was standing in the hall the other day awaiting its bronze figure, some one noticed that in the center of the stone block was a small square hole. The Missouri delegation was present to watch the placing of the statue, and one of the congressmen, fishing through his pockets, found a cent. He put the coin in the square hole, and also deposited a bit of paper with his autograph. The example was contagious. Every member of the delegation put in a cent and his name, some curious bystanders did likewise, and by the time the statue was placed in position, there was almost enough copper in the pedestal to sheathe a ship.—Washington Post.

Leprosy Prevalent in France.
At the international congress of leprosy, which has just been brought to a conclusion at Berlin, the startling fact was elicited that the disease is prevalent in France, especially in the northern district thereof, and that it is on the increase. The discovery and the data furnished by the French medical authorities contributed in no small measure to the resolution voted by the congress to the effect that leprosy is contagious.—N. Y. Sun.

In Confidence.
Mrs. Farquhar—Do you really think your husband is the handsomest man in the world?
Mrs. Adsworth—Certainly. I don't see how any married woman can be happy unless she has that belief.
"And do you ever tell him so?"
"Oh, Julia! Have I done anything to indicate that I am losing my mind?"—Cleveland Leader.

All Over.
"My wife and I have our little quarrels once in awhile," said the man who lives, with others, in the Pastebord flats, "but they are all over in a few minutes."
"I presume you mean all over the house," said the other man, who had had some experience in flat life.—Indianapolis Journal.

A New Verb.
"Where's Jiggers now?"
"Oh, he's Klondiking around somewhere."
"What's that?"
"Trying to find a rich girl to marry him, and getting the cold shoulder for his trouble."—N. Y. Journal.

As Things Go.
"Who is your distinguished friend?"
"Oh, he's private secretary to one of the cabinet members."
"And who is the insignificant-looking fellow accompanying him?"
"That's the cabinet member."—Philadelphia North American.

Padre's Record.
The largest number of notes struck by a musician in 12 hours is said to be 1,000,000. It was not Padre's record, but he holds the record for striking $5,000 notes for 1 1/2 hours' work.—Chicago Tribune.

A New Anesthetic.
"Orthoform" is the title of a new German anesthetic, a powdered preparation of benzomethylene ether, which affords immediate relief when applied to deep burns, ulcers, cancers, etc.—Chicago Tribune.

Monster Sunfish.
A sunfish weighing 485 pounds was recently captured off the south side of Nantucket by a party of fishermen and brought into town where it was placed in exhibition.—N. Y. Sun.

CHANGE OF LIFE.

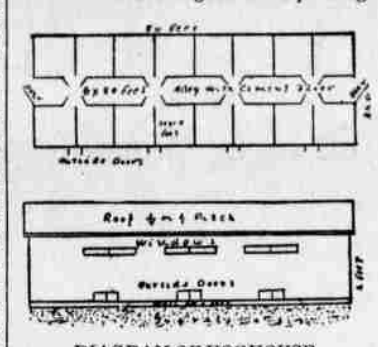

Some sensible advice to women passing through this trying period.

The painful and annoying symptoms experienced by most women at this period of life are easily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially designed to meet the needs of woman's system at the trying time of change of life.

PLANS FOR HOGHOUSE.

The Advice Here Given Is Good in Spite of the Fact That It Is Offered Gratis.

I shall build a house 22x60 feet, six-foot eaves, with one-third pitch roof, with an alley six feet wide through the center of building lengthwise. This will leave pens on either side eight feet, and they can be made 8x10 feet or more or less as seems best. I shall make mine 8x10; this will leave me 12 pens. As regards the use of cement floors, I have not seen any bad results from them where the hogs had the privilege

PREPARATION OF WOOL.

Carelessness in This Work Entails a Loss of Several Million Dollars in Each Season.

The wool man may know how to sell wool. He may even know the true grade of wool and how to grow it. Whether the wool man is a composite character, possessing the above knowledge or a separate man in each of the classes named, he should be reminded of the fact that the woolen cloth maker knows what is most desirable in a fiber; that is, whether it is of even grade, whether it has a good tension capacity, will felt evenly, or is not in the bad company of a mere handful or even a few straws of coarser fleece. Even a trace of mohair in wool, for instance, or wool in mohair, for that matter, is disastrous, for it can only be got out at the factory by extra cost in sorting. This intrusion may be had by packing one grade of wool in the bags which formerly held another grade. Cloth is frequently met with which has a black hair or a lumpy streak and the like. The wool which produced this off-grade cloth or seconds loses to the seller as it does to the manufacturer. The wool shaver or puller should be most careful with his fleeces, that they may be marketed at the highest prices, and, hence, to the best advantage. The production of wool in this country is about 400,000,000 pounds. A loss of one cent per pound on it would mean $4,000,000. Carelessness entails a greater loss than one cent per pound. While the wool seller is looking at the market in the abstract, the wool buyer is looking very closely at the fleece. The producer could profit as by as close a scrutiny of his product.—National Provisioner.

SEASONABLE HOG NOTES.

Th pig should have a dry, warm nest, free from dust.

One or more brood sows are necessary on every farm.

Thrift, not hunger, should prompt the pig to take exercise.

The hog should never be compelled to squeal for his food.

Sows that have a very nervous temperament should be avoided.

Always select the largest, most growthy and best sows for breeders. Exercise develops the muscles and has a tendency to produce lean meat.

Plenty of good water is as essential to the health of the hogs as good food.

When the pig is a suckling is when the foundation is laid for its future prosperity.

Sunshine, fresh air and ground are all necessary to the health, growth and development of pigs.

Dry dirt is not only an absorbent, but a disinfectant, wherein lies the advantage of a ground floor.

In many cases a quart of charcoal given to a brood sow that has taken too much feed will relieve her.

Pork making and apple growing are mutually helpful when the wormy apple gets into the pig's digestion.

The true value of a sow as a breeder cannot be fully known until she has farrowed two or three litters.

On account of the house sows, the wares from the dairy and the garden, a few hogs are a necessary part of the farm stock.

To a very considerable extent the health and thrift of the pigs depends upon the health and thrift of the sows while carrying them.—Farm Home.

Crops for Muck Lands.
As to crops that will stand frost on muck lands, millet will do very well, yield a large crop and be quite safe from frost. There ought to be no difficulty in getting a corn crop in an average year on muck soils in central Indiana, for we have succeeded in raising very satisfactory crops at points considerably north of this on the same use of 200 pounds kainto the acre, and kind of land. If the corn is chaffy the piled broadcast and plowed under will very materially improve the quality and yield of the corn.—Director H. A. Huston, Ind. Expt. Sta., in Farm and Home.

Americans Crowded from Philippines.
As is well known, America was supreme in the Philippine trade from the opening of the export business of the islands on a large scale until within a few years. The reasons for the decline of American influence were largely the drawing out of capital by the older members of the great American trading firms and their leaving the business to younger members of their families, who found themselves with great responsibilities and a reduced capital. Gradually English firms with abundant capital succeeded to the bulk of the business. The last American firm in Manila were crowded out three years ago by Spanish intrigues, caused by the hatred of Americans growing out of the Cuban troubles. This overthrow was managed by the thousand and one petty annoyances of legal machinery that the Spaniards exerted against American firms.—Scribner's.

Color of the Eyes.
It is not generally known that the eyes of infants are always blue, and that they do not begin to assume their permanent color until the sixth or eighth week. There is, therefore, truth as well as poetry in the statement that babies look about them in "blue-eyed wonder." The wonder may be left to poets and philosophers, but the blue is always a practical fact. It is not uncommon to see different colors in the eyes of the same person, and even in the same eye half of the iris is sometimes brown and the other half blue. There is a popular notion that dark eyes are stronger than light ones. There is no truth in this except so far as they are better protected against excessive light. Hence light eyes prevail among northern nations and dark eyes among the races who live in the glare of a tropical sun.—N. Y. Ledger.

Ironical Its.
If one will not, the other cannot quarrel.

If you draw a pistol at a raffle there is no harm done.

If a girl can't sing and will sing she should be muzzled.

If you meet a funeral procession it is a sure sign of death.

If ignorance is bliss it's folly to establish night schools.

If you count 100 when angry it may save you a good thrashing.

If a man has a good job and gets fired it is very apt to make him hot.

If you heed the teachings of a first affliction you may avoid the second.

If a woman desires an early reply to a letter she should never give it to her husband to mail.—Chicago Evening News.

The Quinine Industry in Germany.
During the ten years 1887-1896 Germany imported cinchona bark to the value of 35,500,000 marks, while her exports thereof were only 2,000,000 marks. Her exports, however, in quinine and quinine salts reached the enormous total of 55,000,000 marks, of which the greater part was to the United States, Russia, Italy and Holland absorb large quantities also. The imported quinine totalled, during the decade in question, 2,100,000 marks.—Suddeutsche Apotheker Zeitung.

Peasant Book Collectors.
A peasant family which has been collecting books on its farm for over 300 years, has been discovered in the parish of Hesselingen, Germany. The books are on all possible subjects, the oldest being a "Museum History" printed in 1563. A curious fact about the family is that its members have always remained peasants, none having tried to change his station, even to become a village school teacher.—N. Y. Sun.

Tartlet Pastry.
Rub three ounces of butter into half pound of flour, add two ounces of sifted sugar, a little salt, a few drops of lemon juice, the yolks of two eggs, beaten stiffly, and, lastly, the whites of the same, also beaten up. Roll the paste to one-half-inch thickness several times, and it will be ready.—Boston Globe.

An Undertaker's Advertisement.
A man in clerical garb was handing out cards to the home-going crowd at the entrance to the Brooklyn bridge one evening recently. On the face of the card was an identification blank, in case of accidents. The plan looked easy and convenient, and most persons took the cards in their pockets. When they got home they found on the reverse side the advertisement of an undertaker who advertised a new scheme in burial. The endorsement of a clergyman read: "His tact and painstaking preparation for the committal service in the presence of the family, and a patient lowering device, go far toward making the last moments with the dear departed as comfortable as possible."—N. Y. Times.

A Sensational Case.
Alston, Mich., May 25th.—Houghton County has never witnessed a more striking medical case than that of Mr. James Cuiet of this place.

Mr. Cuiet had spent a small fortune with the best physicians in the country and in addition to this he has tried every medicine he could hear of.

He had a very bad case of Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble, from which he had suffered for twenty years. Nothing he could get seemed to do him any good, and he was gradually growing worse.

He has no Rheumatism now and explains it thus:

"One day I happened to see an advertisement of Dodd's Kidney Pills and decided to try them."

"I made up my mind to give them a good fair trial, as my case was a very bad one and was of over twenty years' standing."

"I used altogether 42 boxes and I can truthfully say that they have driven out every trace of the Rheumatism."

"I feel like a new man, and I can and do most heartily recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills for Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble."

Mourning.
"Black grief, of course, is symbolic of a widow's grief."

"Of course; it's all put on."—Philadelphia Press.

Old Railroad Ticket Is Now a Curiosity.
Mrs. Laura E. Howey, librarian of the State Historical society, of Montana has received from C. E. Reese, of Virginia City, the tickets used in the early '60s on the stage lines of Montana. It is from Virginia City to New York, issued by the Wells Fargo company, the fare being $100. The ticket is composed of eight coupons.

The first is by stage, supposedly to Salt Lake, there being left a blank space to be filled in. From there it is over the Union Pacific railroad to Omaha, by omnibus to Council Bluffs and from there to Chicago over the Chicago & North Western Railway. From Chicago the ticket is over the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago to Pittsburgh and from Pittsburgh to Harrisburg over the Pennsylvania Central. From the latter place to New York the ticket calls for passage over the Allentown line to New York.

W. J. Hill, of 40 South Union Street, Concord, N. C., proprietor of hardware and harness store, Justice of the Peace, and one of the best known residents of that city, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved a very efficient remedy for my case. I got a box at the Gibson Drug Store and used them for disordered kidneys and backache from which I had experienced a great deal of annoyance, trouble and pain. The kidney secretions had bothered me for a long while, were very irregular, dark colored and full of sediment. The Pills cleared it all up and I have not had an ache in my back since taking the last dose. My back is much stronger and my health generally is improved a great deal. I am glad to make a public endorsement of the Pills trusting that it may be the means of relieving some other sufferer."
